CLUBDOM

ROYAL CHILDREN MASQUE

The Masque of the Royal Children is one of the most beautiful features of the pageant drama, "The Path of Progression." The members of this group have been trained by Miss Lynn Black.

It is a play within a play. Twenty little girls represent Plagues, tiny creatures of the woodland, dressed in costumes of wisteria and larkspur tints, are harnessed to a chariot in the form of a golden blossom carrying little "Prince Charles" (William Overton, Jr.), who pauses before Prince Henry (Charles Conley).

As his chariot moves across the stage it is followed by a number of garden folk—Lily, Rose, Pansy, Chrysanthemum, Iris, Sweet Pea, etc., each saluting Prince Henry in passing. From the left, a radiant company appears, led by a seashell of rose and amethyst tints sparkling with water drops of the sea from which it has just come. It is drawn by six beautiful little mermaids and in it stands Neptune, daughter of the monarch of the sea, Neptune, who holds aloft the trident which she presents to Prince Henry in token that Spain, now without the Armada, has left the dominance of the sea to his country.

The Prince, Charles, Neptune and the garden folk join now in a joyous dance and song.

The beautiful and unique chariots representing a huge yellow blossom and a sea shell, are the work of Mr. June Goodrich, who has displayed his artistic ability. The shields used in the pageant have been painted by Miss Thelma Johnston, who has so generously given her time and effort to this patriotic enterprise.

The Heppelwhite Period

This charming English style was developed and reached its highest state of perfection during the period from 1760 to 1830.

Heppelwhite had a determining influence in shaping the trend of furniture toward elegance and refinement as found in light, graceful forms without any great elaboration of decorative details, although Adam motifs were often used as shown above.

The style of Heppelwhite results in extremely graceful furniture. A harmony of curved lines characterizes most of his designs, with the exception of the legs, which are usually slender, tapered and frequently fluted. Chairs have the familiar shield-shaped back, as shown above, a predominating characteristic of the period.

A great deal of Heppelwhite furniture will be found in homes of good taste at the present time because the delicacy and grace of this period accords with our modern ideas of home furnishing, and the pleasing proportions make it particularly agreeable furniture with which to live.

WHERE MAIN STREET MEETS McALL

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every woman in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Read the Experience of These Two Women

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well!—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'"

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak of your medicine."

—Mrs. W. M. STEPHENS, 202 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.
